Highwealth Construction Corporation Business Report

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

We sincerely thank all shareholders for your continued support and trust in Highwealth Construction Corporation. We are pleased to present a report on our business performance over the past year and share our plans for future development.

Over the past year, several major domestic and international economic events have shaped the market landscape. In September 2024, Taiwan's central bank implemented the seventh round of selective credit controls—hailed as the most stringent measures in Taiwan's history—in an effort to cool down the housing market. More recently, in April 2025, U.S. President Trump announced a "reciprocal tariff" policy, sending shockwaves across the global economy.

Nevertheless, across all key indicators, Taiwan is currently experiencing its most favorable economic conditions in the past decade. The business environment remains robust, unemployment has hit a record low, wages are growing rapidly and reaching new highs, and both corporate and individual deposit balances have soared to unprecedented levels. From every angle, the public remains optimistic about Taiwan's economic outlook, a sentiment clearly reflected in wage increases and growing confidence in the future. In recent years, Taiwan's inflation rate has remained above 2%, providing natural momentum for real estate price growth.

However, the imposition of tariffs and ongoing global political uncertainties have dampened domestic investment sentiment. According to the Directorate-General of Budget, Accounting and Statistics (DGBAS), Taiwan's excess savings are projected to reach NT$4.58 trillion in 2025, with an excess savings rate exceeding 17%, with both figures representing historical highs. This abundant capital continues to flow into the stock market, foreign exchange market, and real estate sector, creating strong financial support across asset classes.

DGBAS data indicates that the rental index saw a 2.45% annual increase last year, the highest in 28 years. In January this year, the index climbed further to a record 107.79, up 2.48% YoY. The Taiwan Institute of Economic Research noted that although the real estate market has cooled, this is primarily reflected in reduced transaction volumes rather than significant price declines. Factors such as rising land costs, shortages in construction materials and labor, and the forthcoming carbon fee policy have compelled sellers to adopt a cautious stance on price reductions. Because housing prices remain firm,Because housing prices remain firm, landlords have continued to raise rents, making this the main driver of sustained rental increases.

In 2025, Highwealth continues to target rigid real estate demand by advancing on two fronts: residential and commercial property development. On the residential side, every parent aspires for their child's success. In line with this universal desire, the Group has launched compact two- to three-bedroom "school district housing" in prime areas such as Tamsui, Taichung's 7th Redevelopment Zone, Tainan, and Kaohsiung. These projects have attracted strong interest from parents looking to invest early in their children's education and have been well received in the market.

In the commercial property sector, President Lai stated in his National Day address that the government will continue to strengthen Taiwan by promoting cross-sector economic development and expanding global reach, while also supporting the transformation of small and micro enterprises to market themselves internationally. In addition, recent policy adjustments have eased the minimum required rate of return for insurance companies' real estate investments to 2.545%. This change has helped inject liquidity into the commercial property market and fueled a surge in transactions. According to data from the Ministry of the Interior's Actual Price Registration system, Highwealth has reported strong sales across its commercial office projects throughout Taiwan. These include Taipei's Taipei One, Highwealth T1 in Neihu Technology Park, World Business Center No.1, and Municipal Vision

Square in Taichung's 7th Redevelopment Zone. Cumulative commercial office sales continue to climb, with Taipei One achieving the highest presale unit price for office projects in the city. In Taichung, Highwealth's compact "micro-office" products at World Business Center No.1, and Municipal Vision Square have significantly lowered the barrier for young entrepreneurs seeking to own office space. These offerings also appeal to business owners looking for real assets to hedge against inflation.

As a developer, our role is to provide clients with the best possible office environments, which serve as ideal representations of corporate identity and premier choices for multinational enterprises. At the same time, Highwealth has partnered with three of the world's leading hotel brands, securing premium locations in central business districts (CBDs) to establish comprehensive commercial facilities that attract global travelers and introduce them to Taiwan. By building office spaces and hotels in the heart of our cities, we are creating international business hubs that generate significant economic value. This reflects our sense of corporate mission and responsibility.

In 2024, although we continued to be affected by deferred completions and handovers, revenue was bolstered by projects recognized from our subsidiaries. Our annual revenue reached NT$36.9 billion, once again earning us the top spot among listed companies in the building materials and construction sector in terms of revenue. Key revenue-contributing projects included Highwealth T1 project in Neihu and the Zhan Qian Xinyue project in QIngpu. In Taichung, partial revenue was recognized from projects such as Wenshin Aiyue and Holiwon Castle, etc. In southern Taiwan, recognized revenue was contributed by projects such as Huarenhui, Kaohsiung CBD, and Aichungho Left Bank in Kaohsiung City. Additional revenue contributions came from the Group's subsidiary Chyi Yuh Construction Co., Ltd., as well as from Run Long Construction Co., Ltd. through recognized income from developments including Dream Castle in Keelung, Juke Run Long in Hsinchu, Taichung Dibao, and National Central City. These cumulative figures enabled the Company to achieve earnings per share (EPS) of NT$3.13 in 2024.

In terms of promoting corporate sustainability, and in response to the Financial Supervisory Commission's announcement of the "Corporate Governance 3.0 – Sustainable Development Roadmap," the Company established a "Sustainability Promotion Task Force" under the Board's "Sustainable Development Committee" in 2025. This task force has formulated phased action plans focused on four major ESG initiatives: implementation of IFRS S1 and S2 sustainability disclosure standards, compilation of the ESG Sustainability Report, execution of greenhouse gas inventories, and management of sustainable supply chain risk. This year, Highwealth is aligning its efforts with IFRS objectives by integrating and advancing related operations for sustainability reporting and GHG inventory. Following the ISO 20400 framework, Highwealth is enhancing its sustainable procurement practices and supply chain management mechanisms to strengthen ESG risk control. Looking ahead, the Company plans to adopt a digital sustainability management platform, enabling smarter and more precise implementation of sustainable supply chain strategies. As a member of the construction industry, Highwealth is committed to sustainable innovation, urban prosperity, deepening its roots in Taiwan, and aligning with global standards, actively contributing to Taiwan's sustainable development.

I would like to extend my sincere gratitude to all shareholders who are present today. Thank you for your continued support and trust. Thank you!!

This includes providing employees with enhanced training environments and career advancement opportunities, aiming to attract outstanding professionals and bolster the Company's core competitiveness.

III. Influences of external competitive environment, regulatory environment and the overall business environment

(I) External competition:

According to the latest data from the first quarter of 2025, there has been a clear decline in the number of building ownership transfers across Taiwan, indicating a cooling in real estate transaction activity. Statistics from Chaofu Real Estate Management show that in February 2025, there were 20,007 building ownership transfers nationwide, representing a 4.12% increase from 19,215 transfers in January. However, compared to 18,920 transfers in February 2024, the year-on-year growth was only a modest 5.75%. A similar trend in transaction volume was observed in Taiwan's six major metropolitan areas. From January to February 2025, the total number of building ownership transfers in the six cities reached 29,824, a decline of 25.1% compared to the same period last year. The future trajectory of the housing market will depend on forthcoming policy changes and the pace of market confidence recovery.

(II) Legal Environment:

The seventh round of selective credit controls officially took effect on September 20, 2024, aiming to stabilize financial markets and promote the healthy development of the housing market. For homebuyers with genuine housing needs, particularly first-time buyers and upgraders, it is essential to pay close attention to changes in loan terms and make use of government support measures to mitigate the impact of these policies on home purchase plans.

(III) Overall business environment:

According to a market trend survey conducted by the Taiwan Institute of Economic Research in early 2025, the domestic real estate market is expected to enter a phase of moderation. However, this market cooling is projected to be orderly. While public infrastructure projects and investment in the technology sector continue to support the housing market, the lack of policy relaxation and the waning impact of the preferential mortgage scheme for young first-time buyers suggest that the property market is now firmly in a consolidation phase. A period of adjustment will be required before supply and demand reach a more balanced and healthy state. Conversely, Taiwan's commercial real estate sector is showing signs of steady growth, particularly driven by demand from the 5G AIoT and semiconductor industries. Office buildings, factories, and mixed-use industrial office spaces remain highly sought after. Looking ahead, the real estate market is expected to develop in a more stable direction under the dual influence of policy control and market self-adjustment.

1. Revenue recognition on sales of properties and land

Please refer to note 4(n) and 6(v) of the parent company only financial statements for the account policies on revenue recognition and the details of revenue.

Description of key audit matter

Since the Company operates in the real estate industry, in which its sales revenue is recognized upon the transfer of ownership of its real estate and the actual delivery of its housing unit to a large number of clients, the confirmation on the validity of the timing of the sales revenue recognition is crucial. Independent Auditors' Report

To the Board of Directors of Highwealth Construction Corp.:

Opinion

We have audited the consolidated financial statements of Highwealth Construction Corp. and its subsidiaries ("the Group"), which comprise the consolidated balance sheet as of December 31, 2024 and 2023, the consolidated statement of comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the years then ended, and notes to the consolidated financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Group as at December 31, 2024 and 2023, and its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and with the International Financial Reporting Standards ("IASs"), interpretations developed by the International Financial Reporting Interpretations Committee ("IFRIC") or the former Standing Interpretations Committee ("SIC") endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Financial Statement Audit and Attestation Engagements of Certified Public Accountants and Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with The Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis of our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements of the year ended December 31, 2024 of the Group. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

1. Revenue recognition on sales of properties and land

Please refer to note 4(p) and 6(z) of the consolidated financial statements for the accounting policy on revenue recognition and the details of revenue.

Description of key audit matter

Since the Group operates in the real estate industry, in which its sales revenue is recognized upon the transfer of ownership of its real estate and the actual delivery of its housing unit to a large number of clients, the confirmation on the validity of the timing of the sales revenue recognition is crucial. Hence, the Group needs to thoroughly examine the transfer of its ownership and the data on the delivery of its housing units for its entire transactions to recognize the sales revenue, which usually involves tremendous amount of manual efforts. Therefore, the sales revenue recognition period is considered as one of our key audit matters.

Auditing procedures performed

Our principal audit procedures included:

- Testing the design and implementing the internal control system of sales revenue.
- Performing substantive tests on randomly selected samples of sales contracts, and real estate ownership transfer documents; as well as checking the sales data and general ledger to ensure consistency.
- Testing the samples of sales transaction before and after the end of the year to ensure the correctness of sales revenue.
- 2. Inventory valuation

Please refer to note $4(h) \cdot note 5$ "Revenue" and 6(f) of the consolidated financial statements for the accounting policies on measuring inventory, assumption used and uncertainties considered in determining the net realizable value and the details of inventory.

Description of key audit matter

Inventories, which play a significant role in the Group's business operation, account for 72% of the Group's total assets, wherein the evaluation has to comply with the International Accounting Standards Bulletin No. 2. Moreover, if the net realizable value of inventories is inaccurately assessed, it will result in a negative impact on the financial report. Therefore, inventory evaluation has been recognized as one of our key audit matters.

Auditing procedures performed

• Our principal audit procedures included the following: We understand the Group's operating and accounting procedures for inventory valuation; Obtain the Group management's data of inventory valuation; verify and inspect market value of the afore mentioned information. The net realizable value can be assessed in the following ways: through reviewing the recent selling price of the premises, by inquiring the selling price of premises nearby from the "Actual Selling Price of Real Estate" website, or by obtaining project investment analysis tables, inspecting and recalculating the net realizable value of inventory to ensure if it is adequate.

Other Matter

Highwealth Construction Corp. has prepared its parent-company-only financial statements as of and for the years ended December 31, 2024 and 2023, on which we have issued an unmodified opinion.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and IFRSs, IASs, interpretation as well as related guidance endorsed by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so. Those charged with governance (including the Audit Committee) are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor' s report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- 1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- 2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group' s internal control.
- 3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- 4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management' s use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group' s ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor' s report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
- 5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- 6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2024 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The engagement partners on the audit resulting in this independent auditors' report are Han, Yi-Lien and Tseng, Kuo-Yang.
